Lavender Plant Instructions

Crops with many varieties such as Lavender and herbs are started the same. Sow seeds outdoors in a sunny location first cultivate and enrich the soil with fertilizer. Sow seed .25 inches deep (1/16 inches deep for Oregano and Peppermint, directly on the soil surface for Lemon balm) about 1 inch apart in rows 15 to 20 inches apart. Firm soil over seeds. In 1 to 2 weeks seeds should germinate. Parsley and sage take about 25 days and Rosemary can take up to 30 days and even then, germinate sporadically and unevenly. Thin to 6-12 inches (24 to 36 inches for Rosemary, 18 to 24 for Tarragon) when seedlings are 2 to 4 inches tall. Keep soil moist and fertilize every 4 to 6 weeks. For even earlier harvest, sow seeds indoors in peat pots 6 to 8 weeks before placing outside.
